Mound Park, a group of 34 Maya or Indian Mounds on a 300-acre tract of land, is 16 miles south of Tuscaloosa on Alabama 13. The largest mound, pictured here, is 58½ feet high and covers about 1¾ acres. An archaeological museum is nearing completion which will show aboriginal burials just as they were uncovered in the field. Present plans call for the reconstruction of an entire Indian village on the area.
